Learn to Analyze Educational Data and Improve your Online Teaching

Why Educational Data Literacy?

Educational Data Analytics methods and tools are considered to be key elements for improving online and blended teaching and learning.

Educational Data Literacy is highlighted as a key set of competences for all professionals involved in digital learning.

Who does this benefit?

Instructional Designers – who design and develop online courses.

e-Trainers – who support the delivery of online courses.

School Teachers – who blend their classroom teaching with online learning.

About us

Learn2Analyze is an Academia-Industry Knowledge Alliance for enhancing the competences of instructional designers and e-Trainers in Educational Data Analytics, co-funded by the Erasmus+ Program of the European Union.
